The Starting Questions

Question 1: What are your weak points and strong points in group work?

Communication, decision-making, scheduling, conflict resolution, etc...

Amina: My strong points in group work include communication and conflict resolution. While my weak points include poor time management.

Question 2: What do you hope to learn as a group during the project?

Communication skills, time-management, conflict-resolution skills.

Amina: As a group I hope to learn how to quickly create an environment where all group members can rely on one another and everyone can comfortably speak up if they have differing ideas.

Question 3: What do you think the assignment is asking you to do?

Amina: I believe the assignment is asking us to get familiar with n-gram models and word vector representations; both theoretically and practically.

Question 4: What role do you hope to fulfill during the group project?

Leader, communicator, to keep the overview, note-taker, etc...

Amina: I hope to fulfill the role of organising our thoughts and ideas by coming up with ways we can split the workload in a fair and efficient method. Given we are a small group of 3 people, I don't see it being necessary that we all have different roles such as a leader, communicator etc.

Question 5: Which part of the group assignment do you want to take the lead on?
Writing, researching, formatting, etc...

Amina: I would like to take a lead on the part of the assignment on n-grams.

Question 6: What are your goals for the project?
A high grade, a passing grade, to learn something new?

Amina: My goal for the project is to obtain a fairly high grade and also understand how to implement the theory through code.

Question 7: What type of worker are you?
What are your individual strengths and weaknesses? Writing, researching, formatting, etc....

Amina: I can work well independently, but I am also well in brainstorming in a group.

Question 8: What personal development goal do you have for this group project?
Become a better listener, take the lead more often, etc.....

Amina: I would like to become a better listener and more actively ask group members if they have any concerns or comments on any approach I propose.

Question 9 (Optional): What is your pet peeve?

Amina: My pet peeve is people biting/chewing on the wooden stick after finishing an ice pop.
